From one of America's most popular short story writers and an Academy Award nominee: the O. Henry Award-winning tale that inspired the movie The Hunt. A subject of mysterious rumors and superstition, the deserted Caribbean Island was shrouded in an air of peril. To Sanger Rainsford, who fell off a yacht and washed up on its shores, the abandoned isle was a welcome paradise. But unknown to the big-game hunter, a predator lurked in its lush jungles—one more dangerous than any he had ever encountered: a human. First published in 1924, this suspenseful tale "has inspired serial killers, films and stirred controversy in schools. A century on, the story continues to thrill" (The Telegraph). "[A] tense, relentless story of man-against-man adventure, in which the hunter Sanger Rainsford learns, at the hands of General Zaroff, what it means to be hunted." —Criterion

A nadie asombra que se intente propiciar experiencias de lectura y escritura significativas por su potencial de comunicación y pensamiento, pues lo importante es abrir canales de contacto entre las voces de otros y la propia. Pero no es fácil lograrlo, para ello se necesitan maestros que sepan mediar entre sujetos, textos y contextos, propiciando verdaderos diálogos. He ahí la razón de revisar la formación de maestros e insistir en orientarla hacia la producción autónoma de respuestas y no la repetición de formulas ajenas. Por todo esto cabe afirmar que las preocupaciones centrales en este libro tienen que ver con la lengua escrita, la formación de maestros y la investigación didáctica. En torno a ellas se configuran seis propuestas de enseñanza diseñadas, experimentadas, revisadas, discutidas y mejoradas por grupos de maestros de colegios públicos de la ciudad de Cali quienes desarrollaron este proyecto con el apoyo y la colaboración de asesores externos. Las propuestas se registran como planificaciones de clases para el tramo que va desde pre-escolar hasta el grado octavo de la escolaridad básica. Cada una piensa y transforma en alguna medida la acción en el aula, con ello sus autores se libran tanto de las rutinas automatizadas como de las urgencias diarias generadoras de reacciones inmediatas, carentes de meditación y solitarias; ambos extremos enemigos de la sensatez y la sensibilidad.

Intraspecific communication involves the activation of chemoreceptors and subsequent activation of different central areas that coordinate the responses of the entire organism—ranging from behavioral modification to modulation of hormones release. Animals emit intraspecific chemical signals, often referred to as pheromones, to advertise their presence to members of the same species and to regulate interactions aimed at establishing and regulating social and reproductive bonds. In the last two decades, scientists have developed a greater understanding of the neural processing of these chemical signals. Neurobiology of Chemical Communication explores the role of the chemical senses in mediating intraspecific communication. Providing an up-to-date outline of the most recent advances in the field, it presents data from laboratory and wild species, ranging from invertebrates to vertebrates, from insects to humans. The book examines the structure, anatomy, electrophysiology, and molecular biology of pheromones. It discusses how chemical signals work on different mammalian and non-mammalian species and includes chapters on insects, Drosophila, honey bees, amphibians, mice, tigers, and cattle. It also explores the controversial topic of human pheromones. An essential reference for students and researchers in the field of pheromones, this is also an ideal resource for those working on behavioral phenotyping of animal models and persons interested in the biology/ecology of wild and domestic species.
